

Lake of the Woods Gun Club

Membership Principals & Procedures

Lake of the Woods Gun Club is a members only, recreational shooting club that caters to various types of shooting activities. These activities which include Rifle, Handgun, Trap, Sporting Clays and Biathlon are designed to enhance the members skills as well as entertain the target shooter.

Members from all walks of life join the LWGC. They do this for various reasons, foremost to learn and become safer and better at their chosen shooting sport. When they are at the range, everyone is equal, they have all taken the Range Safety initiation, and are expected to have read and to follow the Range Safety Rules as set down by the Club. They must follow the specific policies of each division in order to use those ranges.

Each member is a civilian and is expected to wear civilian clothes and arrive at the range in a civilian vehicle regardless of his/her profession. The person's occupation is never asked for on their membership because it is irrelevant to the membership process.

Any member arriving at the range in official clothing or official vehicles will be deemed to be officially training and as such a renter and will have to abide by the rental agreements in place. If no rental agreement has been made, the member will be considered a trespasser and asked to leave the range.

Notes and Exclusions As Taken From The Guest Policy

- LWGC insurance covers recreational sanctioned shooting only. The use of LWGC ranges for Militia, combat or self-defense style training by members and guests is prohibited.
- Any group requiring exclusive use of LWGC ranges must follow the LWGC Range Rental Policy. This Policy requires the group to pay $200 per day range rental fee, sign a range rental agreement with LWGC, and provide proof of 2 million dollars in liability insurance.
- Private enterprise, for profit, personal business use of the LWGC ranges is considered a business operation that is not covered by our CSSA recreational shooting range insurance and therefore is not sanctioned by LWGC. Clients of these programs cannot be signed in as guests. In these circumstances, the activity must follow the LWGC Range Rental Policy.
- No guest of a handgun member may bring their handgun to the Handgun Range unless they are a member of another handgun club and can produce a signed Range Invitation Form. Otherwise, a guest wishing to bring their personal handgun(s) to the Handgun Range is required to become a LWGC handgun member and complete the Club Level Safety Course. This is a CFO requirement.
